Irish Museum kicks-off 22nd Annual Lecture Series

Newport Daily News USA TODAY NETWORK

The Museum of Newport Irish History announces the first talk of its 22nd Annual Lecture Series, featuring renowned historian and director of Ireland's Great Hunger Institute at Quinnipiac University, Christine Kinealy. Kinealy's illustrated talk, "Forgotten Heroes of Ireland's Great Hunger, "will be presented on Tuesday, Sept. 26 at 6 p.m. at the Wyndham Newport Hotel, 240 Aquidneck Ave., Middletown, and virtually via Zoom. The lecture is made possible by a gift from Virginia Pittsley, given in memory of Dr. Cheryl A. McCarthy.

The tragedy that struck Ireland between 1845 and 1852 is often viewed through the lens of cold-hearted bureaucrats, greedy merchants, or indifferent landlords, who put profit, principles of political economy, and prejudice above the need to save the lives of the Irish poor. But this is only part of the story of the Great Hunger. Dr. Kinealy's presentation will examine the contributions of several men and women who risked their lives—and sometimes their livelihoods—in caring for the sick and the starving. A number of them had no connection to Ireland.

As Jacques Judah Lyons, Rabbi of Shearith Israel in New York, told his Congregation in 1847, "There is but one connecting link between us and the sufferers...That link, my brethren, is humanity."

Kinealy is director of Ireland's Great Hunger Institute at Quinnipiac University. A graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, Kinealy has published extensively on Ireland's Great Hunger and the Irish Abolition movement. Her publications include the award-winning, "This Great Calamity, The Great Hunger in Ireland," and two recently edited volumes, "Heroes of the Great Hunger" (2021) and "More Heroes of the Great Hunger" (2022). The latter two books were inspired by the front-line workers, unsung heroes of the COVID-19 pandemic. Kinealy's research on the Great Famine has been widely acclaimed, including an Emmy in 2017 for her contribution to the documentary, "The Great Hunger and the Irish Diaspora."

Doors open at 5: 30 p.m. Complimentary light hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar will be available. Reservations are required for in-person and virtual participation. A $5 fee for in-person participation is requested. There is no fee to Zoom.

and offer a convenient travel option for tourists, contributing to our region's economic growth and vitality."

The grant should make it possible to restore passenger service to the Gulf Coast after Amtrak reached an agreement with CSX and Norfolk Southern railroads last year to clear the way for passenger trains to resume operating on the tracks the freight railroads own.

"We've been fighting to return passenger trains to the Gulf Coast since it was knocked offline by Hurricane Katrina. That 17-year journey has been filled with obstacles and frustration – but also moments of joy, where local champions and national advocates were able to come together around the vision of a more connected Gulf Coast region," said Rail Passengers Association President and CEO Jim Mathews.

In one of the biggest other grants, the Palouse River & Coulee City Railroad in Washington state will get $72.8 million to upgrade the track and related infrastructure to allow that rail line to handle modern 286,000-pound railcars.

A project in Kentucky will receive $29.5 million to make improvements to 280 miles of track and other infrastructure along the Paducah and Louisville Railway.

And in Tennessee, $23.7 million will go to helping upgrade about 42 bridges on 10 different short-line railroads.

Highlights for this year's Motor Week

The weekend begins on Thursday with the Bonhams Car Auction Preview at the International Tennis Hall of Fame, which begins at 9 a.m. and lasts until 6 p.m. Another auction preview will be held at the same place the following Friday. The actual auction takes place at 4 p.m. on Friday.

Here, car enthusiasts who purchase the $100 bid package can bid on 53 vintage collector cars, including a 1960 Mercedes-Benz 300SL Roadster which Bonhams estimates to be worth between $1.2 million and $1.4 million.

Throughout the weekend, Audrain Motor Week will host 10 seminars, four of which will be hosted by Newport resident and car enthusiast Jay Leno. The topics range from responsible estate and auto donation planning to remarkable automobile designs.

The Gathering, one of the main events of the weekend, is a showcase of cars from collectors across New England. Attendees, including Jay Leno, are served beverages and food as they peruse through rows of vintage cars on the lawn of Rough Point mansion.

Of course, the Concours d'Elegance closes out the weekend on Sunday. It will feature over 100 vintage cars competing to be this year's Best in Show. The competition has several categories, including Most Elegant and Timeless Luxury. Last year's Best in Show was a 1930 Bentley Speed Six Sports Saloon.
